The importance of Be Centre's work

What has been an incredibly challenging past couple of years for us as adults, imagine the confusion of all of this as a child, where their lives should be filled with play and laughter. There is increased anxiety and stress and pressure on parents, higher anxiety and depression in children, higher domestic violence statistics and trauma from natural disasters.

Our services are needed now more than ever. Be Centre Foundation is a children's mental health charity offering an innovative Play Therapy Program 'Hear Me Play'. We're dedicated to early intervention and stopping cycles of harm - helping children heal so they can move forward and create the best possible future for themselves, their families and the community. Be Centre is the only dedicated Play Therapy charity in Australia. We see approximately 300 children per year and the need is growing.

Enabling children to feel safe, happy and heard is how we help. Our waiting list is never zero.

This is where we need your help.

Childhood exposure to domestic violence (DV) can lead to mental health problems including internalising symptoms such as anxiety and depression.

The difference you will make

Over the last 3 years ...

Be Centre has:

- delivered 7351 play therapy sessions
- delivered 773 parent counselling sessions
- supported 653 at-risk children
- delivered 197 ancillary activities including supporting bushfire impacted regions of NSW

The impact is real ...

"We can't adequately put into words what the time at Be Centre has done for our son. His beautiful play therapist saw all the positives in him, and also saw exactly where he needed help. She is helping our lovely child heal, which in turn is helping our whole family heal.

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks for providing a funded place at Be Centre for our son. We genuinely can't overstate the positive impact it has had both on our child and on our whole family.

With sincere thanks," - The parents of a scholarship recipient
